

HR/People – a tailored programme

To help you navigate through the programme at IOSH 2018 we have suggested some potential pathways for different sectors and have highlighted some “don’t miss” sessions for certain skills. To view the full programme and other track sessions please visit the conference website – www.ioshconference.com/programme

Day one: Monday 17 September 2018

07.45 Registration

09.15 Breakfast session: Legal update – what key lessons can we learn from case reviews?
Kizzy Augustin, Partner, Russell Cooke LLP

10.00 Chair's opening remarks
Cathy Newman, TV presenter and broadcaster

10.15 President's welcome
Craig Foyle, President, IOSH

10.20 Mental health and wellbeing and the CEO
Bev Messinger, Chief Executive, IOSH

11.10 Track session 1

Track B: Longer, healthier, happier lives

David Rowbotham, Global Head of Health and Safety and Matt Bushell, Director of Risk and Quality Improvement, Centre Medical, Bupa
This session outlines the results of two case studies aimed at reducing the incidence of injuries to staff working in care homes. Bupa focussed on musculoskeletal injuries, stemming from an acknowledgment that one of the most hazardous jobs in industry is caring for patients whose function is limited by illness, injury or frailty.

11.55 Refreshments and exhibition

12.30 Track session 2

Track A: Showcasing young OSH professionals

Lee Broadbent, Health and Safety Adviser, Calderdale Metropolitan Borough Council
Edward Debrah, Health, Safety, Security, Environment and Communities (HSSEC) Specialist, Puma Energy, Ghana
Helena Holland, Health and Safety consultant/trainer, In-Comm Training and Business Services
Leila Arndt, Regional SH&E Manager, Supply Chain, Ecolab, Ireland
Young OSH professionals, all winners in the recent IOSH video competition, give short interactive presentations. They suggest how young OSH professionals can influence inside and outside of the boardroom; share ideas for inspiring new entrants to the profession; and consider how organisations can successfully develop practitioners in their early years.

13.15 Lunch and exhibition

14.30 Building a safer future
Dame Judith Hackitt, Chair, EEF, the Manufacturers Organisation

15.30 OSH Question Time

16.30 Refreshments and exhibition

17.05 Track session 3

Track C: ISO 45001 – experiences so far

Richard Jones, Head of Policy and Public Affairs, IOSH, Kate Field, Global Product Champion – Health and Safety, BSI
Ruth Wilkinson, Head of H&S, IOSH, Rohit Sharma, AMES Regional HSE Manager and Gary Foote, Head of Sustainability and HSE, ABB
This session explores practical aspects of ISO 45001, for all sectors and roles. It discusses how best to engage workers in decision-making and supporting others in adopting the principles of ISO 45001, alongside how functional alliances across organisations can help ensure integration and achievement of the system's intended outcomes.

17.50 Tracks end

18.00 Networking drinks reception in exhibition area

19.00 End of day one

HR/People – a tailored programme

To help you navigate through the programme at IOSH 2018 we have suggested some potential pathways for different sectors and have highlighted some “don’t miss” sessions for certain skills. To view the full programme and other track sessions please visit the conference website – www.ioshconference.com/programme

Day two: Tuesday 18 September 2018

07.45 Registration (for day two delegates only)

08.00 Breakfast session: Contractor Management and Human Performance Fundamentals
Salman Khan, EHS Head, Siemens, Middle East, North Africa & Pakistan

09.00 Welcome to day 2 and housekeeping
Cathy Newman, TV presenter and broadcaster

09.10 Chair's introduction to Mark Gallagher
Cathy Newman, TV presenter and broadcaster

09.15 Keynote (motivational) address: Safety in Formula 1
Mark Gallagher, Founder and CEO of Performance Insights Ltd, co-commentator and Formula 1 analyst for the BBC, ESPN and Sky Sports F1

10.15 Refreshments and exhibition

10.45 Track session 4

Track A: Investigative interviewing – effective and healthy safety conversations

Ian Hynes, CEO, Intersol Global

Using a number of blended learning techniques, including case studies and role-play, delegates will be equipped with a framework to better structure and manage health and safety fact-finding conversations. They will leave with a set of interview (meeting) planning tools that will ensure increased accuracy, detail and facts to inform decision-makers better.

11.40 Track session 5

Track B: Health, wellbeing and workplace performance: maximising the benefits to business of good health and wellbeing at work

Nick Pahl, CEO, Society of Occupational Medicine

The session reviews the moral, legal and financial reasons for investing in occupational health and offers suggestions on reasonable adjustments to support those with health problems in returning to work. How is the SOM contributing to national policy-making to support those with long-term health conditions and disability?

12.25 Lunch and exhibition

13.40 In the eye of The Smiler
Dominic Wigley, Group Health, Safety & Security Director, Merlin Entertainments Group

14.25 Equality and diversity in OSH: a panel debate

15.10 Summary/conclusions
Vincent Ho, President Elect, IOSH

15.30 Track session 6

Track A: CPD: Accelerate your career

Vanessa Harwood-Whitcher, Director of Professional Services, IOSH

James Bourne, Health and Safety Manager, Green Frog Power

In a competitive job market, organisations want professionals who are up-to-date and willing to invest in themselves. CPD is vital for anyone wanting to advance their career and meet the evolving demands of the workplace. An IOSH member and a senior leader say how they have used CPD – to boost their career and to develop their workforce and business performance.

16.25 Interactive roundtable discussions

17.00 Grab and go refreshments